

Ann Tardy

[Introduction for Ann Tardy]

From corporate attorney to entrepreneur and cross-country cyclist, Ann Tardy has never met an insignificant manager.

After earning an accounting degree, a CPA, a law degree, and licenses to practice law in two states, she enthusiastically moved to Silicon Valley to represent hungry entrepreneurs.

There she closed over $2 billion of venture-backed financings at two of California's largest law firms, ran the legal department of a public company, and founded her own law firm representing entrepreneurs.

After merging the firm with a larger firm, Ann set out to make the workforce work smarter.

She has authored 3 books, biked across the country, and produced a documentary.
